

Bhoomi Bharwad

Bhoomi Bharwad studies at Mission Education Center in Gujarat. Her father works as a driver and her mother is a maid. When the lockdown started her parents were very scared that she would lose out on her education due to the closing of schools and education centers.

When Smile Foundation's Mission Education centres started the blended mode of learning through online and offline cluster classes, Bhoomi and her parents were more than thrilled. Bhoomi started attending these classes and completing the assigned work. She is very good with numbers and has good verbal skills. Her parents realize the value that quality education holds and always support Bhoomi by encouraging her to attending the regular classes and work hard. She wants to become a teacher when she grows up and help other children like her achieve their dreams.
